SERVING FORT COLLINS FOR NEARLY 24 YEARS, AND COUNTING

What does it mean to truly serve a community?

For us, it means showing up, not just once, but again and again, across years, across life stages, and through some of the most difficult moments our clients will ever face.

Recently, a client shared a story that perfectly captures what nearly 24 years of service to the Fort Collins community looks like in action.

More than two decades ago, after a serious accident, their family turned to Bryan VanMeveren for help. In the middle of fear and uncertainty, they found steady guidance, clear communication, and someone who could take the weight off their shoulders when they needed it most.

Then, years later, life took an unexpected turn again.

After another devastating accident, this time involving severe injuries and a deeply traumatic experience, they came back to VanMeveren Law Group. Not because of an ad or a search, but because of trust that had been built over time.

This time, Karl Hager took on this complex, three-year long case. Through the ups and downs, Karl and Amy checked in regularly, answered questions, and made sure every detail was handled. Weekly calls, even while out of the office, ensured the client always knew where things stood and what came next.

That level of consistency is not a coincidence. It is a commitment.

Being in service to Fort Collins means more than resolving a case. It means building relationships that last.

Over the past 24 years, we have had the privilege of standing beside thousands of individuals and families across Northern Colorado. Many of them return. Many refer their friends and loved ones. And many, like this client, remind us why we do what we do.

We are proud to be part of this community. And we are grateful for the trust Fort Collins has placed in us, year after year.

If you or someone you love ever needs guidance after an accident, we are here. Not just for the moment, but for whatever comes next.

CASE SUCCESS STORY

A bicyclist, facing life-changing injuries after being rear-ended by a motorcycle, was told by police that this crash was his fault. He paid the ticket while still in the hospital, but he knew that there was more to the story. He came to the experts at VanMeveren Law Group, and after careful investigation, our team found compelling evidence that the motorcyclist was negligent, completely reversing the insurance companies' prior decision to obtain an excellent recovery for our client.

I'm so grateful to have been introduced to Katherine Brownlow and Amy Selcke with VanMeveren Law Group. They took excellent care of me. All of my concerns were addressed and effectively satisfied. Katherine and Amy handled my case with calm professionalism which inspired confidence and trust. Meet Luke! While full of love, Luke is a unique boy with some big feelings at his age! He is seeking an experienced adopter who is educated, and willing to put in the time & resources to set him up for success as he grows. He does great with canine friends, and would love a positive canine role model to grow up & learn the ropes with! While a feisty little fella, he is also the world's best snuggler. When he settles into the crevice in your lap or arm and falls asleep there is nowhere in the world you'd rather be!
